

East River Baptist Church, an independent Baptist church, will act as a staging station and relief center for basic needs. Items are being collected and stored in their gymnasium. They need at least a day or two notice before a church delivers or drops off items, especially large quantities.

If churches want to send funds directly and not through BIMI, their mailing address is below. The number one priority is to channel funds to independent Baptist pastors in the Houston area who have small churches and limited budgets. The pastor and church are very sound and reliable and their ministry has a good testimony with other pastors. Direct contributions may be made to East River Baptist Church (Harvey Relief) and the church will receipt the donors. Here is the address for direct donations: East River Baptist Church, (Harvey Relief), PO Box 983, New Caney, Texas 77357

Candlestick Baptist Church, an independent Baptist church on the northwest side of Houston, and Calvary Baptist Church, located on the south side of Houston, will also be acting as staging stations and relief centers for basic needs. Items are being collected, stored, and distributed at these churches. Again they need at least a day or two notice before a church delivers or drops off items, especially large quantities.

Dyersdale Baptist Church, Coldspring, Texas, can house church groups that come to work in the Houston area. They are 30 minutes from the staging station church in New Caney. They have dormitory style rooms and can accommodate up to 100 in their dormitory areas. Shower facilities are also available. Pastor Kenneth Jackson has requested that groups contact him before arriving. His cell phone number is (936) 203-8687. He also has other pastor friends who can house people. Here is the information for housing:
